A FOUL MURDER.

William Rotborough, an Esteemed Colored Man, Found Dead.

William Rosborough, the colored merchant, attended a business meeting of the deacons of his church (St. Paul's Baptist Church) on Monday night, Christmas Eve. While he was in the church. William Smith, the sexton, informed him that some one on the oatside wanted to see him. Rosborough went out and never returned. Becoming alarmed, his brother in-law, Arthur Golding, and others, went in search of him after the meeting adjourned and found him dead about 3 o'clock on Tuesday morning. He was lying about 100 yards from the church, with a gunshot wound in his chest. They then notified the policemen. William Smith, Wm. White, John Rowe and Sam Craig have all been arrested. The coroner's jury was impanelled by Magistrate C. beart on Christmas day, and it is still investigating the case. Smith has been released.
